THOSE CONVENTIONS.

The Republican County Committee Fixes the Dates Therefor.

THEY WILL BE HELD SEPARATELY.

Judge Fetterman Objected to the Plan. But Was Overcome.

SOME IMPORTANT SUB-COMMITTEES

The County Republican Executive Committee held its largest meeting this season yesterday afternoon with Vice President John N. Neeb in the chair. The purpose was to fix the number of conventions for June, 1890, and to designate the officers to be nominated. Twenty minutes were consumed in calling the roll, 200 being present. Judge Fetterman wanted the roll dispensed with, but Alderman Schaefer objected, and it was proceeded with.

Sheriff McCandless offered the following resolution: WHEREAS, In accordance with Rule No. 6, of the rules governing the Republican Executive Committee of Allegheny county, it is pro-vided that "at least four months previous to the primary elections and conventions, the County Committee shall determine the number of county conventions to be held and officers to be nominated therein;" therefore be it Resolved, That primary elections be held or the first Saturday in June, 1890, between the hours of 4 and 7 o'clock P. M., in the several election districts throughout the county, to elect delegates to the following conventions:

County convention No. 1, county convention No. 2, county convention No. 3, county convention No. 4.

No. 2. county convention No. 3, county convention No. 4.

Also to elect delegates to the several Congressional, Senatorial and Assembly districts as provided by rule No. 5. County convention No. 1, to nominate a candidate for Sheriff and a candidate for Controller; county convention No. 2, to nominate a candidate for Treasurer, a candidate for Clerk of Courts and a candidate for lierctor of the Poor. Convention No. 3 to nominate a candidate for Register of Wills. Convention No. 4, to nominate two candidates for Commissioners and a candidate for Assistant District-Atterney.

FOR SEPARATE CONVENTIONS.

Judge Fetterman offered an amendment to the resolution creating a separate con-vention for each of the general county officers to be nominated. This would make eight onventions instead of four.

Mr. Flinn objected to the amendment on the ground that it would create an army of delegates, and as there was no opposition to the candidates for the several county offices, he could not see the practicability in having so many conventions.

Judge Fetterman thought it would create too much confusion to have two officers nominated in one convention, and referred to the time when all the county officers were nominated in one convention, and it nearly always took two or three days to make up he ticket.

Dr. McClarren moved, as an amendment to the amendment, that the Crawford county system be adopted; but Chairman Neeb ruled his motion out of order, for the reason that the rules provide a system by which all county officers shall be nominated. Judge Fetterman's amendment was then voted on, and was lost by a large majority, after which the resolution offered by Sheriff McCandless was adopted, with but one dissenting voice—that of Judge Fetterman.

Secretary Martin then announced the subcommittees which had been announced ties. committees which had been appointed since the last meeting. They embrace a list of 400 names. The more important committees are the following:

J. M. Schaefer suggested that a Commit tee on Complaints and Grievances should be appointed. Chairman Neeb said that was unnecessary, as there were never any complaints or grievances in the Republican ranks. Mr. Schaefer thought the Chairman was wrong, for the leaders were at war all the time. Chairman Neeb replied that the County Committee had nothing to do with the private affairs of the leaders.

Mr. Schaefer then moved that the regular meeting of the committee be held on the sec-ond Saturday in each month. This carried and the committee will meet next Saturday to indorse the State ticket.

UNCLE BEN'S DEATH.

The Oldest Pittsburg Printer Passes Away-A Man Who Was One of the Argonauts of

'49-A Life of Incident. "Uncle Ben" Franklin Latshaw died of a complication of diseases at his home, 31 Fulton street, yesterday morning. He was the oldest printer in Pittsburg, having been born in Stoystown, Somerset county, February 15, 1821. As early as 1833 he began his apprenticeship at the case with his elder brother, W. D. Latshaw, publisher of a paper in Johnstown. He remained in that position for two years, when he came to Pittsburg and was apprenticed on a paper published by Robert M. Riddle. At the conclusion of his apprenticeship he went to Missouri, and engaged with the Springfield Register. From there, in the year 1840, he again associated himself with his brother, who was conducting a paper at Mt. Carmel on the Wabash river, after which he came to Pittsburg, and went the rounds of all the city newspapers. Then he went to Philadelphia, but again returned the Iron City in 1845.

Again in 1849 he went to St. Joseph,
Missouri, by river, and crossed overland to California. When he lauded at Sacramento he determined to go out to the gold diggings. He had not remained but a few weeks in the mines when he returned to the case, having secured employment at Sacra-mento, where he received $2 per thousand ems. This may seem an overestimate; but it must be taken into consideration that all necessities of life were exorbitantly

Cholera broke out very shortly after he had started to set type, and he thought it best to come east, and arrived once more in Pittsburg in 1851. In Six Months the Last Dog Unhung Will be Personal Property.

MUCH CRY, BUT LITTLE WOOL, As All Previous Dog Deterring or Regulating Laws Remain.

SENATOR DRAVO'S DOG-ONNED RATIONS

Senator John F. Dravo formulated the latest new dog law, and it passed both branches of the Legislature. It is safe to say that there is more dogology on the statute books of Pennsylvania and sister States than legal lore on all other dumb animal subjects. Though both Moses and Mohammed discriminated against the dog, and only tolerated him as a scavenger, he has held his own, and is better acquainted with the world at large than the world is with its own statutes and ordinances. Some say the Indian is descended from some of the lost tribes to whom Moses gave law; but, though the dog had no status worth speaking of under his law, yet the average Indian prizes his dog above his squaw, and expects the faithful animal to bear him company in the happy hunting ground of the great to come. The dog, though the friend of man, is on the whole a very injudicious friend. When sowing his wild oats in the days of exuberant puppyhood, he usually destroys in value his weight in silver, if not in gold, and his indigenous appetite for mutton makes him

the terror of farmers. Occasionally he sucks eggs, and his misdirected zeal, in behalf of

HIS STATUS NOW FIXED. Special laws for the management of the dog dot the statute books as thickly as stars in the firmament, and Senator Drayo has added a general one which, Judge Fetterman says, is almost entirely nugatory, save in the feature of making the dog personal property. This reduces him to the old-time status of an African in the Southern States. It is said that Red Jacket's classification ran thus: "The white man first, the Indian next, the dog next and the nigger next and last." In Pennsylvania this is now all changed; Mr. Dravo makes the dog personal property, and the African isn't, and sonal property, and the African isn't, and hasn't been since 1865.

But, notwithstanding the prejudice in favor of the dog, he, or rather his, master labors under some disability. For instance, it is now provided by Pennsylvania law that the owner of a supposed mad, dog, way it is now provided by Pennsylvania law that the owner of a supposed mad dog may be cited before a Justice of the Peace, who may direct that the dog be killed. Dogs that worry sheep may be killed. Owners are responsible for all damages caused by dogs. Registered dogs have been regarded as personal property. Dogs seen in an inclosure with cattle or sheep may be killed, and in consequence the life of an illiterate dog has not always been a happy one.

In some instances special laws applying to certain counties provide that damages to certain counties provide that damages collected from owners by law-breaking dogs shall be applied to the purchase of merino sheep, whose offspring shall be divided among the injured owners. In fact, as Judge Fetterman observes, there are as many special dog laws as there are patents

TWILL BE UNREALTHY.

Senator Dravo's bill provides amon other things that the owners of dogs shall pay a tax of 50 cents annually and of bitches $1. The tax is to be assessed the same as that for the school fund and assame as that for the school rund and as-sessed by the township assessors the same as on other property. The County Commis-sioners are directed to return to the school directors of the various districts the number of dogs in each district and the tax is to be paid to them. If the owner of a criminal dog can be made to pay for his pet's torts in the way of sheep killing, all right; if not, such losses are to be divided pro rata, if the tax fund be insufficient. In adjudicating claims the Justice of the Peace and township auditors are allowed a fee of 50 cents in each case, and, if there be a surplus of $100, it is to be covered into the school fund. The mode of moving for relief is that when a person sustains loss by a sheep-killing dog or dogs he can make an information before a justice of the peace in the township or borough where such loss is sustained, and if the dog owner do not ap-pear, the County Assessor, after being aspear, the County Assessor, after being assured of the loss, may proceed to carry out sentence, and if the owner be responsible the damage is to be collected in full from him; if not, the fund will be drawn upon. The township and borough Boards of Assessors are required to take a dog census at the beginning of the year 1890; but, as the act does not repeal any of the special acts, the legal opinion is given that all the verbiage and machinery of the last act will have no other effect than to make all dogs in the townships and borto make all dogs in the townships and bor-oughs of this Commonwealth personal prop-erty, and subject the man who steals one to rosecution for larceny.

GRAPEVINE FOOD WILL BE PLENTY. It is said there are 75,000 dogs in this It is said there are 75,000 dogs in this county; but ere the assessors get to work it is estimated that there will be a great mortality among them (the dogs). A man may fight for his poodle, and yet be averse to paying tax for him. It seems just the least bit strange that the 30-ounce poodle and the 150-pound Newfoundland should be taxed the same, if the object be the prevention of them by the same of the same sheep killing; but it is more than an even chance that the tax will generally be paid on the poodle more readily than on his larger relative.

The Fallmaster does not set any great to the schindery to any considerable extent; but it is said that the body of a dog put under a grape vine is productive of great results, so that viticulture is likely to receive an immense impetus next year. "Tray Blanche and Sweetheart, little dogs and all," may find it necessary to call a convocation to determine whether to bark at Senator Dravo or fawn on him.

WILKINSBURGERS WILD.

Mad Dog Attacks and Bites Several Boy

on the Street. On Friday the citizens of Wilkinsburg were in a state of perturbation. A dog afflicted with rabies came rushing down Wood street and dashed into a crowd of five boys. He first bit Charlie Doran, tearing his hand, and then snatched at the limb of Charlie's brother, leaving but the prints of his teeth on him. He also made a break for Eddie Dickinson, springing upon his shoulder and tore his hat into shreds. The dog afterward ran frantically down Main street, followed by Doran's father, with six other men. They finally caught the dog in front of a bakery store, and not until they had put eight bullets into him was he beyond the power of doing further mischief. Dr. Penhing is attending the boy Doran.

To be Proud Of.

It is pleasant to record the result of well-directed effort in any department of business, especially when that success is backed by merit. Competition in all branches of business at this time is great, and he who by energy, integrity and perseverance takes the lead is worthy of commendation. In this connection may be mentioned Dr. Tutt, of New York, who has achieved a great victory over competitors in the introduction of his world renowned liver pills. In a comparatively short time they surpassed pills that had been before the public over a quarter of a century. Tutt's Liver Pills have gained a papularity unparalleled. Indorsed by the medical faculty in Europe and America, they have become a household word on both continents. It is pleasant to record the result of wellAN ODD LEGISLATIVE GRIST.

The life of a lawyer is not so free from care as some suppose. In addition to the constantly increasing differentiation and specializing which makes it necessary for one lawyer to devote himself to criminal another to international, and still another to marine law, etc., if State Legislatures continue to legislate the time is not far distant when lawyers will be necessary as class to devote themselves exclusively to the study, or rather memorizing, of State enact

Here is one that will command general

It is made a misdemeanor for an insolvent banker or broker to receive moneys from depositors when the receiver knows himself or his bank to be insolvent, and such person, receiving moneys under such circumstances, upon conviction is to be fined double the amount so received, and imprisoned from one to three years, in the discretion of the Court. IT IS FOLLOWED UP IN COURTS.

Another Tangle in the Southside Water Works Litigation.

GENERAL NEWS OF THE COUNTY COURTS

Attorney Wm. Yost yesterday presented petition in the Quarter Sessions Court on behalf of A. Wishart. It was stated that last summer John A. Martin had been fined $25 and costs in each of two suits before Alderman Carlisle, for selling on Sunday. Martin appealed to court, holding that he had already been fined before Alderman Schafer for the same offenses, and had paid the fines. Upon the strength of this the Court gave judgment in favor of Martin, releasing him from the payment of the fines imposed by Alderman Carlisle.

It is now claimed that a fraud was perpetrated, that no fines had ever been paid to Alderman Schafer. The Alderman denied having ever received the fines when the State's agent applied to him for payment of them, and Martin now admits that he never paid them. It is asked that the order of court relieving Martin be revoked and that he be compelled to pay the fines. Judge Collier issued a rule on Martin to show cause why the former order should not be revoked. The case will be heard on Monday, August 19. This is a sequel to the suit began this week before Alderman Brinker by Captain Wishart, charging Martin with

A. J. Kearcher, the Federal street drugsoda water on Sunday, July 27. The plain-tiff claims he was fined $25 and costs by Alderman Tatem for the same offense, and claims that he cannot be punished twice for the same offense.

AS INDIVIDUALS TOO.

The Directors of the Monoagahela Water

M. W. Watson, President of the Mo gahela Water Company yesterday filed a plea and answer in the equity suit of H. Sellers McKee and others against the Monongahela Water Company, Mr. Watson and others. In the suit it was alleged that certain stockholders of the Monongahela Water Company, M. W. Watson, B. F. Jones, T. B. Atterbury and J. S. Atterbury, and John H. Dalzell, who was not then a stockholder, had purchased the plant of the Manufacturers' Water Company. They had been authorized by the company to purchase the plant for the company, but purchased it as individuals. They then in turn sold it to the Monongaheia Water Company for $450,000, a great advance over what they had paid. The transaction, it was claimed, was fraudulent, and the Court was asked to make the defendants refund the money they had gained by it.

Mr. Watson in his plea states that the purchase by the Monongahela Water Company of the plant of the manufacturers' company was made pursuant to a unaninongahela Water Company, Mr. Watson pany of the plant of the manufacturers' company was made pursuant to a unanimous vote of the stockholders of the former company, the plaintiffs participating, and they accepted and still hold their proportion of the stock distributed by T. B. Atterbury, trustee for the stockholders of the Manufacturers' Water Company. The plaintiffs have also received dividends on their stock. For this reason Watson asks that the suit be dismissed. In his answer, also filed, Watson states that the defendants purchased the Manufacturers' Water Company chased the Manufacturers' Water Company as individuals, with their own means and for the purpose of protecting their interests in the Monongahela company. The pur-chase was not made for the Monongahela in a legitimate manner purchased the plant from them, to do so increasing its capital stock from $998,200 to $1,448,200.

MORE DIVORCE CASES.

The Courts Continue to Hear Dismal Domes

Mrs. Barbara Tibi yesterday sued for a divorce from Martin Tibi. The couple were married in December, 1849, and Mrs. Tibi is now 62 years of age. She stated that her husband deserted her in 1887. His conduct toward her had been barbarous and eruel and though he promised to give her $3 per week, he has only given her $60 altogether since October, 1887. She claims that he is well able to support her, owning at least $10,000 worth of real estate. She sued for a divorce two years ago, but upon his promise to pay her a weekly allowance she was in-duced to withdraw the suit. She also asks duced to withdraw the suit. She also asks for alimony.

The testimony taken in the divorce case of James P. Lenahan against Ellen Lenahan was filed yesterday. It was alleged that Mrs. Lenahan deserted her husband two years ago in Cincinnati, O., taking their four children with her. Lenahan is a brass fitter, living in Allegheny.

Other Exception

Bailey. The exceptions in the cases are the same as filed by the Cherry Valley Iron Works and A. Wilcox & Co. They further add that the assignee has paid out of the general fund a large sum of money for interest upon a certain mortgage upon real estate, from which no fund has been raised for the general credit-ors, with which payment said assignee should be surcharged.

Wonderful Progress The continued and increasing prosperity of the glass city of Jeannette, on the main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad, almost near enough to be a suburb of Pittsburg, is near enough to be a suburb of Pittsburg, is a matter of wonder and interest to every observer. A year ago, when the town was started on a tract of 200 acres purchased for that purpose, no one could foresee or place a limit on the wonderful forces and capital that would be employed in developing the resources and advantages of that then quiet rural district.

The first site has become too small for the town's growth and contiguous lands have

The first site has become too small for the town's growth and contiguous lands have been recently purchased by the Western Land and Improvement Company, upon which they are daily enlarging their original plans. On the east and south and north the lines have been moved out, taking in all the available territory—not at the old price, but at largely increased figures. Even a section of country, known now as East Jeannette, has realized the importance of its nearness to Jeannette, has awakened from its slumbers and has secured the location of a nice little glass plant that will be in operation in the early fall. On the southeastern portion of the town, on the company's lands, will soon be erected a large plant to manufacture steel and iron into finished shapes, while on the west a second large stack pointing heavenward indicates the early completion of the second immense tank of the four that were comprised in the original plan of the Chambers prised in the original plan of the Chambers & McKee Glass Company. We had expected a certain halt in improvements during the time the factories were closed for summer vacation, but the reverse is the case; the restless energy of the population would not permit the train of improvement would not permit the train of improvement to halt for the reopening of the fall fires, but kept steadily ahead making preparations for the most vigorous campaign in the history of any town in the whole country. Scores of houses are being erected in every quarter. The liberality of the West-ern Land and Improvement Company urged the movement of those with small means by loaning them meney on favorable terms and loaning them money on favorable terms and by building a large additional number of nouses for the accommodation of the largely necreased number required to start the new tank furnace.

Although not a certainty, it is highly probable that in the early future a manu-facturing plant of no mean proportions will-be erected on a late purchase of land lying pon the extension northward of Third and Fourth streets.

The Westmoreland Water Company are now laying a system of water works through-out the town to supply bountifully all who want it with the best mountain water. Plans are being prepared for churches and a large and commodious school building. a large and commodious school bailding. There is an active movement in real estate, and a steady upward movement in values that is gratifying to holders of property.

Just as this is being written the grading of Third street North is being completed, and a number of new lots are ready for market at low prices and easy terms, that leave large margins of profit for the future market.

The actual working of the great tank during the two months just preceding the banking of fires for summer has demonstrated beyond doubt the success of that method of making glass in this country, and many new men and their families are moving in, to be ready for the fall fires.

Prosperity appears everywhere in the town, and at its present rate of increase in population another war. population another year will see the town with a population of not less than 5,000.
